

A NEW forum for the enjoyment and funding for performing and visual arts.
An enabling technology whose time has come.

FOR THE CONSUMER AND HUMANITY...

- Enjoy the arts virtually on-demand by selecting performances and images at the Artistes du Globe web site. Performances are then downloaded to the consumers IPTV box that will decode and then display the performance at up to HD quality.
- Still-art images are transferred to high quality framed displays around the home or office wirelessly. Select favorites, define rotation schemes, set color moods.
- A source of support for worldwide humanitarian causes is built right into the system. Consumers can choose where to allocate their support.

FOR THE ARTISTS AND PRODUCERS...

- A portion of every performance and visual art display assures that the artist is paid for their work. Artists now have a world stage and massive audience and no time limits for the life of their art. The higher the quality of arts, the higher the appeal, the more enjoyment is obtained by consumers and the more the artist is financially rewarded.
- Artists can manage their works online, see the revenue streaming into their account. Producers can allocate funds to unlimited downstream participants to manage agreements around rights-protected materials.

FOR ART SCHOOLS AND STUDENTS...

- IPTV is the next great evolution for entertainment and video education because of its unprecedented ability to incorporate database programs with the video. Now, schools and private instructors can place their courses online and students around the world can learn and interact.
- Students can learn from masters. Schools can locate new students. Courses can be engaging and worldwide. Advanced video features such as slow motion and zoom and repeat are now a breeze. Two-way audio and video is now possible for real-time interaction between student and teacher.
